Honorary Recommendation

Awarded by:

Hellenic National Defense Chief of Staff (5-star General George Antonakopoulos) – because: “as Commandant of the Olympic Hospital CBRN Response Unit of 401 Army General Hospital of Athens and with personal loyalty he exceptionally contributed in the organization, operational design, provision of educational and operational equipment and training of medical personnel in CBRN defense issues both in Greece and abroad. He acted in a direct, methodological, fast and efficient way for the arrangement of all pending issues and solution of bureaucratic obstacles dedicating both his in-service and out-of-service time for the conclusion of his mission. His actions resulted in the flawless operation of his unit during the 2004 Olympic Games and according to the initial feasibility of establishment. The above officer I highly recommend as an example of professionalism imitation.”
